

The feel good factor

This year, during the 2016 edition of Salone del Mobile, LINTELOO will launch a new series of furniture designed by internationally renowned design firm Yabu Pushelberg, as well as new designs from rising star Sebastian Herkner. Some iconic pieces by Jan des Bouvrie, Roderick Vos and Linteloo Lab will also be on display, united by the common feel good factor that LINTELOO has come to be known for.

Yabu Pushelberg - HEATH & OISEAU collection

Distilled from the spirit of early career influences, redefined by an intensive modernism, Yabu Pushelberg's first collection for LINTELOO is made up of two distinct groups; upholstered pieces and turned wood pieces. The collection as a whole references the past with a fresh take on familiar archetypes. Refined, and evolved from their original references, the furniture is sophisticated, with a bespoke urban quality.

HEATH, a group of tailored, curvilinear upholstered pieces, includes multiple sofa and chair configurations and a pair of amorphous stone-topped coffee tables. Made up of complex curves and directions, the deep seating is precisely molded to embrace the body. Creating a perceived lightness, chairs are set atop turned wood legs placed in cardinal directions which extend up the HEATH chair's sides, effectively framing the seat.

In contrast, OISEAU, comprised of wood-frame dining and lounge chairs accompanied by solid wood dining tables and coffee tables, represents a more rational direction. With this group, the notion of a formal dining setting is replaced by a more casual interpretation. Inviting, relaxed proportions lend themselves to an intimate dining experience, and chairs with webbed upholstered seats afford a setting where diners comfortably linger long past the end of a meal.

Simple, honest materials: opaque-stained ash, leather and linen, in an earthy colour palette of dark moss, stone and flax enrich the restrained, handcrafted quality of the collection.

Sebastian Herkner – Terrace table & Ample armchair

After launching the Mark chair and Mark dining table at the IMM Cologne this year, the collaboration between LINTELOO and Sebastian Herkner has expanded. During the 2016 edition of Salone del Mobile, LINTELOO will launch a new family of side and coffee-tables plus a new armchair designed by Sebastian Herkner. The side and coffee-tables are inspired by the arrangement of the countryside and the layout of fields: TERRACE. The table tops are made of different handmade ceramic plates. Because of the various levels and surfaces, the color will slightly change its attitude from each perspective. AMPLE is an upholstered wing-armchair with ottoman and has a strong silhouette and character as much it is cosy. The padded seat is placed on a wooden structure and the soft cushioning gives you the feeling of an intimate place with many possible seating positions.

LINTELOO – The feel good factor

In 1994 Jan te Lintelo started a furniture brand that radiates 'enjoying the good life' in every possible way. Today LINTELOO is a leading furniture brand with 3 permanent showrooms and about 250 dealers worldwide. The cosmopolitan flair of the collection is due to the collaboration with internationally renowned designers.