Bold colors, clear-cut lines: BANNACH presents table Abbondio at Milan Design Week

Rose, orange and dark green. The defining feature of Abbondio, the first piece of furniture by Berlin-based furniture brand BANNACH, are its bold choice of colors. With its clear-cut lines and at a length of 3.20 m (126 in), this impressive dining table is sure to add character and class. „Having studied landscape architecture, I follow a holistic approach. To me, furniture should not only be functional, but also have a strong aesthetic value,“ says 33-year-old Moritz Bannach, founder and creative director of the young brand. To him, BANNACH combines aspects of design, architecture and art: „The furniture and objects I design are a strong, bold statement against everything that’s dull and gray in this world. Abbondio consolidates this with its sculptural character.“

The UNO collection, which was released in mid-April 2018, expands BANNACH’s portfolio by more different-sized tables, which are manufactured in selected traditional German workshops.
