

DAAA HAUS

DENDEL

by Maria Bezzina | DAAA HAUS

Designed and inspired by the 1980s modular shop shelving system, Dendel is a modular system offering flexibility for storage of books and furniture, whilst also serving as a stand-alone furniture feature.

With the increasingly small floor area of new city homes, finding more floor space for your daily activities is a huge gain. 'Dendel' is complete wall mounted leaving the floor completely clear. Providing a dynamic yet subtle design allowing you to add to its structural format in ways that you choose.

A 'double' shelf allows you to hang the extra furniture in between it is possible to still store things in a formal manner on top of the shelf. The same shelf can serve as a writing table/desk as well as a TV unit.

The modular design allows a fit with a variety of different spaces and prompts the exploitation of unused spaces around the house.

DAAA HAUS

DAAA HAUS offers a unique design process; mixing parameters, such as strategies and communication, fabrication techniques and tools, materials and technology, as well as other relevant lifestyle and cultural issues.

DAAA HAUS work always reflect a balance between form, function, communication, lifestyles and culture.

The end result is always an experience larger than the product or space itself. At DAAA we call it SIGNIFICANT DESIGN.
